

The best kept secret in fermentation.

The word is out

Applikon, the leader in autoclavable bioreactors, now offers prepackaged BioBundle™ fermentation systems that can save you up to 30%.

How is that possible?

By prepackaging BioBundle systems, Applikon realizes significant cost savings, which are passed on to you. Not only do you save money, you also save time. Each BioBundle system is shipped with everything you need, including the new Applikon 1010 BioController.

The biocontroller with brains and power.

The versatile Applikon 1010 BioController makes the BioBundle system an exceptional value—and brings powerful new capabilities to your lab.

Quality you can count on.

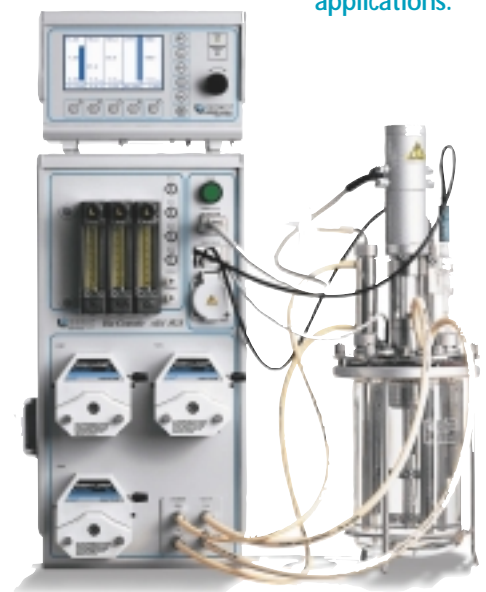

As with all Applikon bioreactors, every BioBundle system is made of the finest materials available and built to cGMP standards.
